EXPERTISE

[mobile_hide]

Igor Dronov advises enterprises on the optimum legal form and tax structuring for distribution systems. He has many years of experience in registering limited liability companies, joint stock companies and opening representative offices for foreign enterprises in Ukraine.

Igor also specializes in contract and tax law, and possesses in-depth experience in advising on all of the legal and tax law aspects for drafting contracts, hedging our clients' receivables, as well as executing and enforcing contracts.

He advises on a wide range of intellectual property issues, in particular, negotiating and drafting license agreements, supporting the transfer of trademarks, registering intellectual property objects in the Customs Register, and defending our clients' interests in the event of a breach of their IP rights.

Igor offers legal analysis for advertising materials, including online commercials regarding their compliance with the Ukrainian competition advertising law, and provides our clients with competent legal support in enforcing their claims in the event of infringement.

He asserts our customers' rights and defends their interests in out-of-court and in in-court proceedings. He also obtains work and residential permits for foreign employees in Ukraine.
